Engaging Early Finishers

There will always be students who finish ahead of the pack so it's important to provide meaningful work for them. VTS can help with that! Use critical thinking skills practiced during VTS to engage early finishers.

When planning your VTS early finisher work consider...

- Subjects & topics of study
- Topics needing review
- Topics with extension potential
- Material organization & access

VTS Early Finishers should include accessible visual objects and accountability for the student. You can even provide opportunities for student choice.
